COAL STRIKE SEPTEMBER 1 IS THREATENED

CONFERENCE BREAK HALTS ARBITRATION OVER WAGE SCHEDULE

Intervention By Outside
Agency Only Hope
Now Is Held

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 5.—Intervention by an outside agency was held today to be the only hope of averting a strike, or a suspension of mining, in the hard coal fields September 1.

The "break" in the anthracite operators-miners wage conference has come. Negotiations are definitely off for the time being at least. After wrangling since July 9, the conferees were unable to get any where. The operators not only declined to grant the miners demand for wage increases, but demanded reductions.

"There was no hope of agreement," said John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America. "It was useless to continue the meetings."

The way was left open however, for renewal of the meetings although both sides today expressed the opinion that resumption of negotiations was not likely.

What agency if any, will intervene in the situation was a question arousing comment among observers. There was some hope especially among the operators that President Coolidge might take some action, but there have been reports that the president does not want to inject himself into the controversy.

Gifford Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania, also has been mentioned as a possible mediator.

The miners wage scale committee was to meet here today to discuss what steps should be taken as a result of the failure to reach an agreement with the operators.

JEALOUS, ADMITS SHOOTING FIANCEE

MANILA, August 5.—Torn with jealousy and believing his second lieutenant pay too meagre to permit him to marry, Lieutenant J. S. Thompson, in a signed confession produced today, said he shot his sweetheart, Audrey Burleigh, because he was afraid to let her go to America without him.

The trial of the army officer for the murder of the 18 year old girl last April, was continued to September 1, to await the arrival of depositions from the United States.

Thompson was declared sane in a medical opinion read to the court yesterday.

SOVIET STATION IS SEIZED BY WHITES

LONDON, Aug. 5.—"White" Russians have seized the soviet station at Uza near Gomel, captured the village of Uwarewicz, arrested and shot members of the communist executive committee there and distributed pamphlets declaring war against the soviets according to Central News dispatches from Warsaw today.

The dispatches credited the information to the newspaper Kujerr Póranny.

BYRD IS NOMINATED BY VIRGINIANS

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 5.—Harry Flood Byrd, of Winchester, won the Democratic nomination for the governorship from G. Walter Mapp, of Accomac, by a majority in excess of 40,000 votes, according to incomplete returns from yesterday's primary.

Byrd had the backing of the Democratic state organization and won every congressional district save the first, his opponents home district, according to the returns received up to this morning. Mapp was endorsed by the Anti-Saloon League, the W. C. T. U. and like organizations.

EMPLOYERS MADE LARGE SAVING

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5.—That Ohio employers saved $7,198,398.78 as a result of the operations of the Ohio Workmen's compensation act during last year is disclosed today in a special report made by the state industrial commission. This report shows that Buckeye state employers in 1924 paid $10,797,599.77 in premiums to the state insurance fund. The report pointed out that, for similar protection, these employers would have paid private companies $17,995,997.95.

AS BODY OF BRYAN WAS LOWERED INTO GRAVE

A lingering silvery note on a bugle, sounded by an Army trumpeter, closed the last earthly chapter of William Jennings Bryan, as the body was lowered into a grave at Arlington Cemetery, Washington, D. C. to sleep with the nation's warrior dead.

WOMAN INJURED AS AUTOS COLLIDE AT DETROIT AND UNION

Driver Tells Police Autoist
Ignored Stop Signal

A sedan driven by Mrs. John Whittington, Maple Corner, collided with a Red Wing ice cream truck at Detroit and Union Streets Wednesday morning, when, according to the story told to police by Mrs. Whittington, she turned her automobile to avoid running into a Chevrolet touring car which came out of Union Street without heeding the stencilled "stop" sign.

The tires were torn from the Whittington car and the radiator damaged. Mrs. Whittington's mother, who was with her, received a bruise on the head. A fender of the truck was bent and a wheel bent. Carl Claybaugh was the driver of the truck.

Mrs. S. W. McHenry, North West Street, was the driver of the touring car, according to police. She is alleged to have driven away after the accident.

The accident occurred while the Whittingtons were on their way back to the city after a visit to the office of Dr. D. E. Spahr on the Springfield Pike.

Mrs. Whittington reported the accident to police. She was instructed by Chief Graham to return to Police Headquarters Thursday morning. No charge has been filed in connection with the case but an investigation of the cause of the accident is being made by police.

COUNTY RECEIVES AUTO TAG SHARE

A check for $6,879.75 was received Tuesday by County Auditor R. O. Wead from Secretary of State Thad Brown as a settlement of the Greene County, county villages, and Xenia city share in automobile license fees collected during 1925 to July 31 in the state.

The county's portion of this amount to be placed in the road fund is $2,171.98. The Xenia and villages' share will be used for street maintenance. The license fee settlements will be distributed as follows at the August settlement: Greene County, $2,171.98; City of Xenia, $2,555; Chilton, $89.25; Cedarville, $351.17; Fairfield, $430.89; Osborn, $647.75; Yellow Springs, $633.71.

FIRST AID TESTS TO BE FEATURE OF FAIR

One of the most interesting and instructive features of the fair this week is the first aid talks and demonstrations given under the direction of The Ohio Bell Telephone Company on the Fairgrounds, in front of the Red Cross tent.

According to plans, the local first aid team will give two demonstrations at 10:30 and 1:30 Thursday. In addition, talks will be given by J. J. McCarty of Columbus, division safety instructor for the telephone company. The local team is composed of T. J. Corigan, captain; H. E. Witham, Frank Sutton, Carey West and Robert Nelson. This team will demonstrate resuscitation methods in case of electric shock and asphyxiation and also demonstrate bandaging as well as other first aid methods.

The platform on which the demonstrations will take place was donated by The McDowell and Torrence Lumber Company. The Red Cross tent is situated south of the art hall.

FOUR KILLED, TWO MISSING, AND SEVEN HURT IN BUILDING COLLAPSE

Upper Floors of Three Story Structure Housed Victims
—Workmen Are Searching Ruins For Victims

KANSAS CITY, MO., Aug. 5.—With two persons still missing, four dead and seven injured, one possibly fatally, workmen continued today the search of the ruins of a building in the downtown section which collapsed late yesterday when a cross beam which had been used as a support by movers, broke.

The two upper floors of the three story structure were used as a rooming house. J. M. Holliday, 79, and his invalid wife, 75, were killed as the aged man was ministering to the bed-ridden woman. The other dead were William Banks, negro workman and a lather named Peterson.

MONKEY DISPUTE IS RAGING IN ENGLAND OVER MISSING LINK

LONDON, AUG. 5.—While the United States is still discussing its Tennessee monkey trial, Great Britain is having a little monkey controversy of its own.

Americans argued for and against the theory of evolution, while Britons are contending whether the "missing link" in evolution of man has been found.

Some months ago Professor Dart of South Africa, announced the discovery of a Taung's skull, and claimed that he had unearthed the skull of the "missing link". The claim was almost undisputed until Sir Arthur Keith, famous English anthropologist, took issue with Professor Dart.

Writing in Nature, Sir Arthur Keith said that in his opinion the Taung's skull found by Professor Dart was that of a young anthropoid ape, and the claim that the "missing link" had been found was "preposterous."

In far away Johannesburg Professor Dart had been quick to spring to his own defense.

"One of the reasons why scientists cannot appreciate the Taung's skull," said Professor Dart, "is because they do not know Africa. An ape would be exhausted after running one hundred yards. He must have trees. No ape could have lived on our bare plains and rolling hills. The Taung's skull was found outside the equatorial forest belt, and scientists have proved that climatic conditions in Africa have remained the same for thousands of years."

"The skull is the most wonderful fossil yet discovered. It is not a collection of scattered bones that had to be elaborately reconstructed, but is unusually complete. In addition, there is an entire cast of the brain."

"The face of the Taung man is more 'pushed in' and human than that of the modern ape, and the cast of the brain bears out the conclusions drawn from the shape of the face. Both face and brain are exactly what could have been expected of the ape which left the forests for the plains and had been forced to use his wits to escape the wild animal and other dangers surrounding him."

Thus British scientists are torn on the question of monkeys, as are the sects of the United States.

WOMAN IS KILLED

PARIS, Aug. 5.—An American woman was killed near Caen, Normandy, when an automobile belonging to a relative named Kirby, overturned, according to advices here today.

RATIFICATION OF TREATIES ON CHINA SIGNED BY POWERS

America's Open Door Policy Becomes Formal Treaty

WASHINGTON August 5.—China's strife-ridden history took a new turn today as the powers formally exchanged ratification of two treaties regarded by diplomats as holding almost limitless possibilities for eventual stability in the Far East.

The historic American "open door" policy, first outlined by Secretary of State Hay became a formal treaty policy acknowledged and accepted by the world powers, as did also a plan for revising China's customs revenue upward.

The customs treaty was regarded today as marking a milestone in Chinese history as a lack of finances has been the main reason for inability of the Peking government to maintain order.

The formal exchange of ratifications by the powers here was marked by a simplicity, in strange contrast with the heated rows of world famous diplomats at the Washington conference when they were being debated behind closed doors.

Representatives of seven great powers and the United States and China met in the reception room at the state department, passed on the word in keeping with diplomatic precedents and then departed.

The powers represented included Great Britain, France, Japan, Italy, The Netherlands, Belgium, Portugal, the United States and China.

China will now within three months set the time and place for the customs conference, the powers will select their representatives and the mechanics of giving China from seven and a half to ten per cent customs revenue in place of the present five per cent or less will then be set in motion.

With concession grabbing by individual nations now formally banned and equal rights to all countries assured, in commercial relations with China, observers were agreed today that the only bar to complete eventual stability was the extra territoriality problem.

The foreign diplomatic body in Peking is now engaged in completing a note to the Peking government, setting forth the attitude of the powers on an early conference to settle these particular treaty relations, if the note has not already been delivered.

Secretary of State Kellogg sat in motion the machinery for the extra territoriality conference over the known objections of Great Britain which is opposed to permitting Chinese laws to deal with her subjects in that country.

The secrecy, with which the informal conventions have been conducted on the Kellogg suggestion for a conference on treaty rights, has led to the belief that Great Britain may have won a diplomatic victory in her determination to indefinitely delay the proceedings.

GREECE NOT TO BREAK WITH BULGARIA

ATHENS, Aug. 5.—Greece will not break peaceful relations with Bulgaria over murder of the citizen Nikolaides, but intends to insist on punishment of his murderers, an official communication stated today.

The communique went on to say that adequate protection would be demanded for Greeks in Bulgaria.

Explaining moves that have been interpreted as presaging war, the government said that frontier guards had been strengthened merely to aid the Greek refugees who wish to leave Bulgaria.

YOUTHFUL FLAPPER, REPENTANT, CRIES FOR AMPUTATED TRESSSES BUT ALAS IN VAIN

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 5.—Like sin and crime, beauty has its price and exacts its penalty, pretty little fourteen-year-old May Fite tearfully admitted recently.

"Oh, I wish I had my curls back again," she sobbed.

And therein lies a tale of a bobbed-hair tragedy.

All the girls in the neighborhood—May's companions—sport bobbed tresses. Only May's hair was unshorn. And they delighted in teasing her, flaunting their abbreviated locks in her face.

May just turned fourteen, the age when the jibes of comrades sink in deepest and hurt hardest. She wanted to be like the other girls.

Her parents, however, were horrified when May told them she wished to amputate the two beautiful wavy braids that fell below her waist.

"I couldn't bear to see you lose your tresses," her mother said. And

GRANTED DIVORCE, COUNT SAYS HE WAS NEVER MARRIED

LONDON, AUG. 5.—Comte Jerome Valier, descendant of a famous old Italian family, has been granted a divorce from Maise Winifred Davis, whom the Comte declares he never knew he married.

The Comte's story was this: He met Maise in a London night club. They became friends, because both were struggling against unhappiness. According to the Comte, one day Maise said to him:

"Look here, you might as well marry me."

"What do you mean?" the Comte asked, according to his own story. "It is merely a form," the Comte said Maise told him, so off they went to the registrar's office, and Maise made all the arrangements and the Comte answered all the questions that the registrar asked, and then Maise broke the news to the Comte that she was his wife, but the Comte was inclined to think it was a joke. He was more than convinced when Maise took his automobile and never returned to him. Three times after that the Comte saw Maise, who went to the United States to fill a theatrical engagement. Then the Comte returned to Italy.

In Italy the Comte met and married the Marchesa Balbi. Two months after their marriage, due to a family feud, gossip was spread and the Comte and the Marchesa were charged with bigamy, though the charge was later dismissed.

The Countess Maise brought a cross petition against the Comte for divorce, and the Marchesa Balbi intervened.

Lord Merrivale heard this strange story, dismissed Maise's cross petition and granted the Comte a decree of nullity.

ASSOCIATION TAKES UP OPTION ON HOME IN DODDS ADDITION

Will Build $55,000 Annex—
Possession Given In 30 Days

Decision to acquire the Roberts Villa, Corwin Avenue in the Dodds Addition, one of the most picturesque structures in the county as the new home of Xenia Masons, was reached at a meeting of the Masonic Temple Association Tuesday night.

The association decided to take up the ninety-day option held on the Villa which expires Thursday. The purchase price was $20,000.

When completed, the Temple will represent an investment of approximately $100,000, it is announced.

The deal includes five full size lots immediately surrounding the main building which will be landscaped and beautified and add greatly to the beauty of the site. Options are also held on seven additional lots in the square.

It is planned to build to the east and connecting with the main building, a modern two story brick structure, the second floor exclusively to be used for lodge purposes and the lower floor for a banquet hall and dance floor. Estimated cost of this building is $55,000.

Work of erecting the new building will be begun in the autumn with a corner stone laying ceremony. The new building is expected to be completed in the spring of next year.

The various Masonic bodies are expecting to vacation their present quarters in the Steele Building and establish temporary headquarters in the Roberts Villa within thirty days. It is also thought possible the annual Masonic picnic may be held on the new grounds in August this year.

The Masonic Temple Association has held more than 100 meetings during the last two years canvassing the question as to the advisability of owning their own Temple.

It was first suggested to build on the Ed. S. Foust lot on South Detroit Street.

Plans and specifications were drawn up by Frederick Mueller, Hamilton architect, but the plan was discarded as impractical as it would incur a tremendous debt on the shoulders of the body.

The proposed annex lodge building connecting the L formation of the Villa, will be forty-five feet by seventy feet, making ample provision for a membership, almost double that of the present.

The main building has the advantage of commodious rooms, beautifully arranged to be used entirely for club and social purposes, with property rooms, offices and a caretaker's department in the L part.

All that remains to complete the deal is the formal authorization of the Grand Master of Ohio, of Cleveland and the Deputy Grand Master of this district, who will visit Xenia in several days to inspect the building and voice his approval. It is announced. Application has been made to the Grand Master for authorization to abandon the present quarters.

The four Masonic bodies have officially gone on record endorsing and approving the temple plans as outlined by the association.

The purchase of the Roberts Villa and erection of a lodge building adjacent can be completed with but half the cost of the Foust lot project, it is believed.

Action of Masons in acquiring the Roberts Villa for a temple will mean a great increase in membership in the lodge, it is believed.

The Roberts Villa, erected in 1877 by the Misses Roberts and their brother and consists of twenty-one large rooms, a drawing room, recreation room, and a library on the first floor.

The interior will be changed but little. The rooms are finished in native walnut, oak and birds eye maple and are so arranged as to be able to comfortably accommodate the entire lodge with its present membership.

Features of the new lodge will be bowling alleys and billiards for recreational enjoyment of members.

The Board of Directors and officers of the Masonic Temple Association which made possible a new temple for Masons, follows: George Little, president; Dr. A. C. Messenger, vice-president; M. C. Smith, secretary; A. E. Faulkner, treasurer; Ed S. Foust and P. H. Flynn.

Xenia Lodge No. 49, F. and A. M. has a membership of 460, Xenia Chapter No. 36, R. A. M., a membership of 213, and Wright Council No. 96, R. and S. M., a membership of 165 or a total of 838. Order of Eastern Star is the other lodge body.

HUSBAND DESERTED HER 22 YEARS AGO

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5.—Claim that her husband, Robert Eatwell, deserted her twenty-two years ago and that she has not seen him since, is contained in the divorce petition of Mrs. Elizabeth Eatwell on file here today in common pleas court. Mrs. Eatwell said she married Robert at Cleveland, 1893 and that he lived with her ten years. There are no children.

GREENE COUNTY'S FINANCIAL CONDITION GOOD REPORT OF BONDED DEBT INDICATES

That Greene County's financial condition compares favorably with any county in the state and is much better than the average, is shown in the annual bonded debt report of County Auditor R. O. Wead, to be submitted to State Auditor Tracy.

Due to business like methods of handling funds, the county bonded indebtedness has been decreased $113,990.64 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925.

Greene County is also believed to be one of the few counties in the state that reduced its bonded debt during the past fiscal year.

The county bonded debt now stands at $160,550 against which the interest and sinking fund commissioners have available in investments and cash, $193,457.84, making the net or actual county debt but $267,092.16.

The county bonded debt is divided into five classes of which the road debt is easily the largest. The road debt totals $259,800, the bridge debt, $55,000, ditch debt, $1,950, Court House debt $21,000 and debt of refunding bonds issued in 1922, $122,800.

At the present rate of reduction of the county debt and providing no further bonds are issued, it is estimated Greene County will be entirely out of debt in three years.

The Court House is being paid for gradually and may be entirely county property next year. Court House bonds totalling $15,000 were called in during the past year. Providing the remaining Court House bonds, several of which do not mature until 1930, can be located, this debt will be entirely wiped out next year. Funds are available to pay the debt off immediately.

But five of the nine villages in the county show a bonded indebtedness. The total village debt during the year was decreased $16,700. Village bonds totalling $6,900 were issued during the year making a net decrease of $9,800.

Following are the debts of the five villages: Cedarville, $32,000 for street improvements; Fairfield, $2,900 for town hall; Jamestown, $5,000 for street improvements; Yellow Springs, $15,100 for fire apparatus, street improvements and electric lights; Osborn, $31,000 for water works, town hall and street improvements.

Clifton, Spring Valley, Bellbrook and Bowersville villages have no bonded indebtedness.

Xenia City School shows a bonded debt of $702,000 a decrease of $78,500 from last year.

Of the twelve townships in the county, only three have bonded debts, all for road improvements. The total township debt is $18,000, decreased $5,000 during the year.

Silvercreek Township shows a debt of $5,000, Jefferson Township $5,000 and Ross Township $8,000. Bath, Beaver Creek, Caesar Creek, Cedarville, Miami, New Jasper, Spring Valley, Sugar Creek, and Xenia Townships have no bonded debt.

Ten Greene County schools outside Xenia show a total bonded indebtedness of $540,463.28. The schools decreased their debt $935 during the year above several bond issues totalling $33,000.

Various county schools and their debts are listed as follows: Ross Township Schools, $38,665; Yellow Springs Village Schools, $17,500; Miami Township Schools, $6,500; Spring Valley Township Schools, $62,000; Jamestown Village Schools, $1,500; Sugar Creek Township Schools, $84,000; Jefferson Township Schools, $45,298.28; Cedarville Township Schools, $68,000; Beaver Creek Township Schools, $6,000; Bath Township Consolidated Schools, $212,000.

COURT NEWS

WANT RECEIVER

Suit for appointment of a receiver has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Howard Gauvey, 44 Sherman Street, Dayton, through the law firms of Marshall and Marshall, Xenia, and Shank and List, Dayton, against William Cary and Tydill M. Cary.

The action also names the following defendants: R. W. Harbaugh Lumber Company; The First National Bank, Osborn; The Osborn Lumber Company, Osborn; Jacob Sauer, Nell Sauer, Robert H. Allen, Rose L. Allen, Forest H. Nichols, Lulah G. Nichols, The Home Building and Savings Company, Xenia; The Peoples Building and Savings Company, Xenia; William Barnum, Milton G. Shank, as attorney for C. W. Gruver, and others; Oscar McIntosh, B. J. Dimon, C. Stumbaugh, Charles Miller and The Miami Roofing Company.

William H. Cary owes the plaintiff $1,800 on a loan with which money he contracted to build six houses in the village of Fairfield, the petition recites.

Cary left for parts unknown leaving the residences in an unfinished condition, the plaintiff alleges. Many mechanics' liens, attachments and suits have been filed against the defendant Cary; bills for labor are unpaid; some of the houses have been sold on contracts of sale by Cary and purchasers are uncertain as to their rights to the premises, and payments on the contracts are due and no one has the legal authority to receive and account for the payments, according to the petition.

The plaintiff says the other defendants claim interest in the premises.

The plaintiff claims the property and assets of the defendant Cary, are in danger of being lost; that rights of creditors need protection of the court; that a multiplicity of suits are in contemplation by parties interested and a receiver to care for the defendant's property is needed.

MODISH MITZI—Not Even New Season Gtts Ahead of Mitzi By JAY V. JAY

They say these are the latest things for fall. Rep is going to be very fashionable, Roman stripe border effects on plain and plaid backgrounds. This is surely food for thought, thinks Mitzi. First thing before you know, fall will be here and Mitzi behind time. No, never!

So many of these samples come in the 54 inch width so that the border will band the skirt—especially in sport models. Personally, Polly thinks that a fine plaid would be a handsome thing—especially if it were made in one of those flared skirt models.

Adelaide, too, has found the samples that were sent to Mitzi by her foresighted tailor. Adelaide thinks it would be nice to have a dress of this material with wide stripes horizontally inclined. She sees the dress in her mind's eye—

When Mitzi turns up with a sketch of the style in the same material—showing exactly how her fall dress is going to look, Adelaide is changing her plans rapidly. The color is very new and the design is so striking that only the simplest of styles could be selected for it.

DEBTS.

STATISTICS furnished by a New York Bank show that each of us owes $13.89 that we didn't have down on the little home budget book.

It represents our share of the $1,558,742,433.68 that represents the bonded debt of the state governments of this country now. It also represents an increase of nearly 50 percent in the last three years and the data points out that it is approximately half a billion dollars greater now than the entire federal debt in 1916 and that the per capita debt is $4.07 greater.

The figures indicate that the states have gone on a spending spree along with individual citizens since the war, and that they are living high as well. Without attempting to furnish an answer, it might be suggested that the addition of new laws constantly offers a drain on the state treasuries.

Legislatures continually piling new laws on the books find they must also create enforcement agencies to see that the laws are obeyed. Duplication of federal laws puts the burden often on the states in place of the federal government, such as the state prohibition laws that duplicate the Volstead amendment.

New York state has eliminated its state dry law, convinced that since it is the duty of the federal government to enforce the law, to duplicate that enforcement is only a drain on the taxpayers. State agencies are not provided to enforce other laws that are actually constitutional amendments of the federal government. The burden of enforcing the counterfeiting laws, and laws on postal thefts are left where they properly belong—in the hands of the federal department of justice. This may or may not be a reason for the fact that although New York state's debt is high, its per capita debt is low in the list, being below that of South Dakota, Oregon, North Carolina, Delaware, North Dakota, Massachusetts and other small states.

THE SCOPES VERDICT.

THE verdict of guilty in the Scopes case was universally expected. It could not have been otherwise. Scopes was technically guilty and there was not a man on the jury who took his side of the larger question involved. When the trial judge, properly enough, decided to exclude the scientific testimony on which the defense relied to prove and unconstitutionality of the anti-evolution law and make its case, the infinitesimal chance of impressing the jury with the defendant's justification for the act charged against him vanished.

Now the case will be appealed to the supreme court of Tennessee, where doubtless the question of the constitutionality of the law will be made the issue. Then, it is much to be hoped, an appeal will be taken from that court's decision whatever it may be, to the supreme court of the United States. A question of surpassing importance to America and Americans is raised by the existence of the Tennessee law, which seeks to shackle free education and to go far toward establishing a recognized state religion. It is of the highest importance, since the issue has been joined, to have the constitutional guarantees of complete religious liberty defined by the final authority.

MUNICIPAL REPUDIATION.

ONLY at rare intervals has an American city or village repudiated its debts and refused to meet its contract obligations. There is one instance now, a little village in Oklahoma, the town of Devol, where the tax duplicate shows property values of $144,000. The municipality has outstanding an issue of bonds amounting to $185,000, a debt contracted during an era of expansion when hopes and ambitions were capitalized and mortgaged. Men thought oil was to be found there, so sewers were built, waterworks established and a municipal electric light plant and some school buildings far too large for the needs. But the oil was not found.

Of course a community has no more right to repudiate a debt than has an individual, and no community cares for a man who will not pay his debts. In some way the town, county and state should co-operate to have that debt paid. It hurts the state and does damage to municipal reputation. It is a sad moral lapse and there should be a cure found. Of course the investors should have made a more careful investigation before purchasing but failure to do so lends no justification to a repudiation of the debt.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

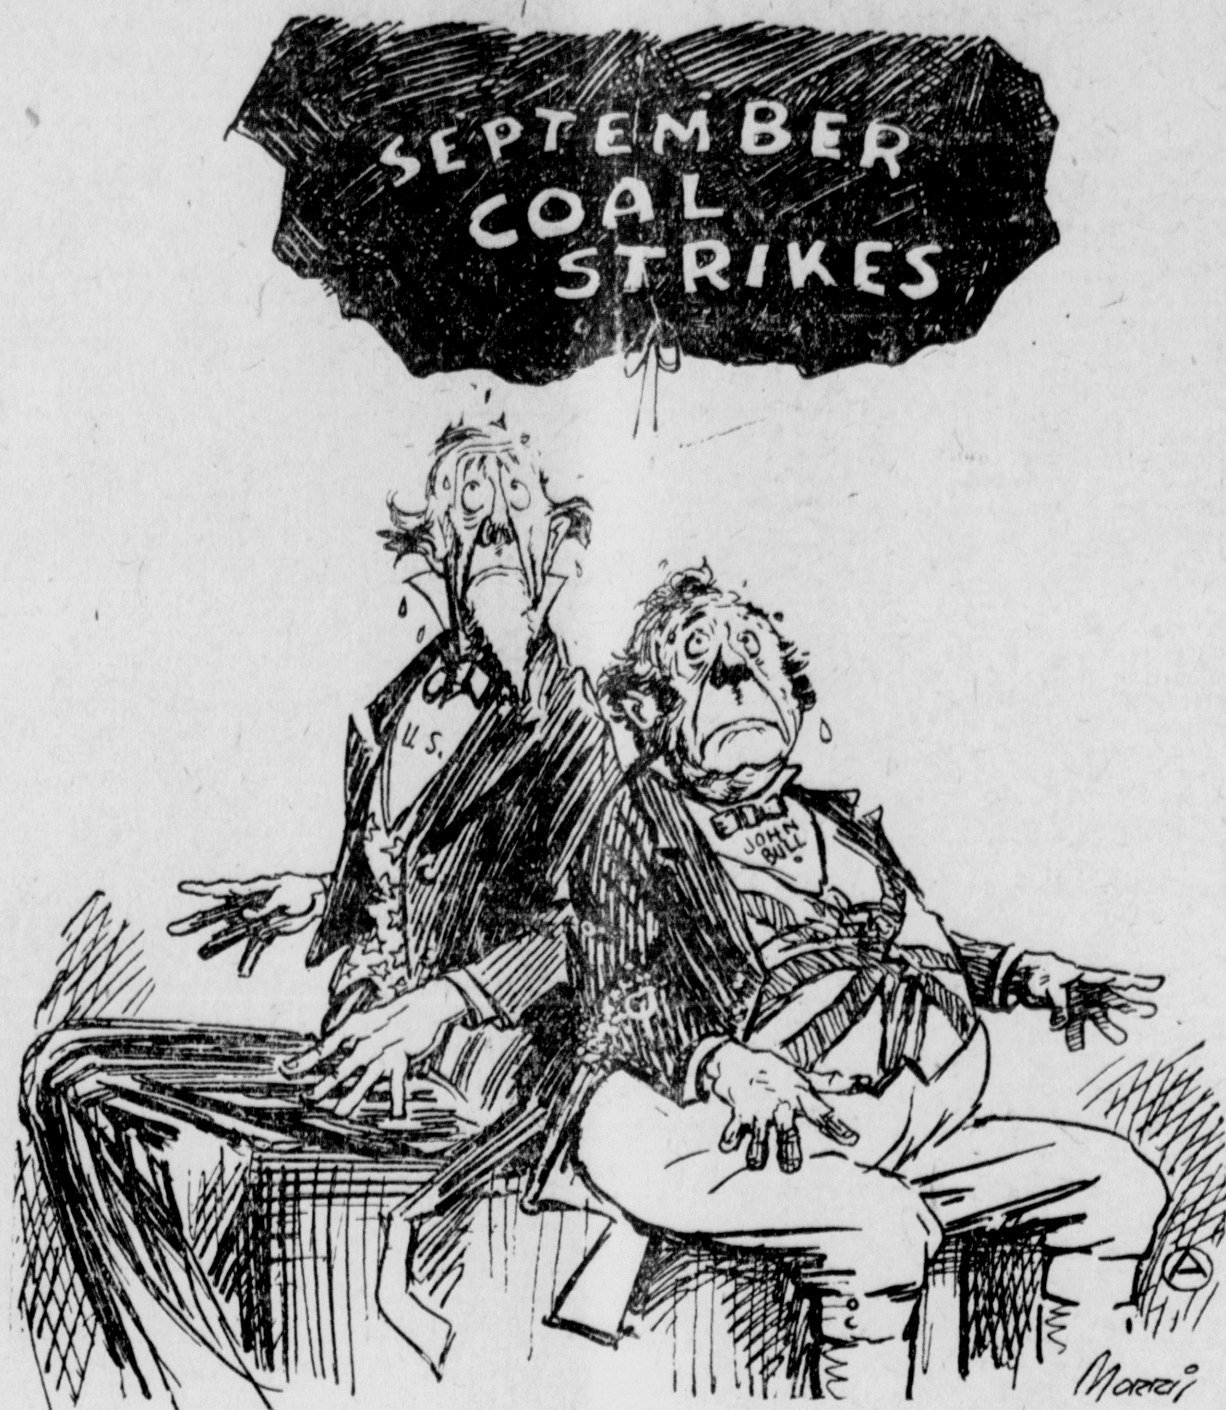

THE SUMMER COITAGE SARDINE
Oh little fish which comes to us
In overcoats of tin
Once more sedate upon my plate
I see you with a grin
Your silver side is gleaming fair,
Bedecked with beads of oil
'Tis sad, but true, to feed on you
They called me from my toil

Engaged upon some lofty theme
Not long ago I sat,
I'd pledged my time to shape a rhyme
The world might marvel at,
But onto me there came the maid,

"To dinner, sir!" said she,
"To dinner, sir," mark that from her,
Thus dignifying thee.

Three times a week thy Norway kin
Upon my plate I've seen
From yonder sea, has come to me
Full many a sleek sardine.
You're is a goodly race, I vow,
A healthy spot your shore;
The more I eat your oily meat
They keep on serving more.

I know, oh tiny, frail sardine,
That you would rather be
At home alive, to plunge and dive,
Than make a meal for me.
But this is what you cannot know
I too, bemoan your fate;
I'd rather see you swimming free
Than here upon my plate.

1905-Twenty Years Ago-1925

An enthusiastic and pleasant reunion was held Friday by the survivors of the 154th O. V. I. at the Nef grounds.

The fair ground is beginning to blossom forth in all its wonted fair time array and now is the scene of a settlement that has the appearance of a small but busy city.

Many Xenians were at Tippecanoe City Thursday where they were in attendance at the meeting of the Maryland Association of Ohio.

More than 3,000 people were present at the fair races at Dayton Thursday and some good events were witnessed. Of the Greene County entries, Goldie Strathmore, owned and driven by Frank Dyer, of Jamestown, made the best showing.

Hot weather brings its problem of using up the milk which has accidentally soured. The following cake recipes, calling for sour milk, will all be found delicious on the home table:

Sour Milk Chocolate Cake: Mix together one cup of granulated sugar and four teaspoons of cocoa powder. Add a pinch of salt and then cream into this dry mixture two tablespoons of lard. Now flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla and mix in one cup of sour milk in which is dissolved one teaspoon of baking soda. After mixing well, add two cups of ordinary bread flour and turn the batter into two buttered layer cake pans and bake twenty minutes in a hot oven. Put together with ordinary uncooked chocolate icing.

Sour Milk Spice Cake: Cream together one half cup of butter and one-half cup of granulated sugar. Add the beaten yolks of two eggs, one-half cup of molasses, and one-half cup of sour milk in which one teaspoon of baking soda has been dissolved. Also add one and one-half cups of bread flour sifted with one third teaspoon of ground cloves, one teaspoon of ground cinnamon, and one-fourth teaspoon of ground nutmeg. Last, fold in the two stiffly-whipped egg whites and add one-half cup of seeded raisins and one-half cup of chopped walnut meats. Bake for about forty minutes in a medium oven, in a buttered loaf-cake pan, or bake in greased cup-cake pans for about eighteen minutes in a hot oven.

Fudge Cake: Cream a piece of butter the size of an egg and into it rub two tablespoons of dry cocoa powder. Now add one wellbeaten egg, one cup of granulated sugar, one cup of sour milk a pinch of salt, and one and one-half cups of flour sifted with one teaspoon of baking powder. Last, add one-half cup of hot water in which one teaspoon of baking soda has been dissolved. Work quickly, turning the batter into a greased loaf-cake pan. Bake for forty minutes in a moderate oven.

Sour Milk Drop Cookies: Children love these and they are easy to make. Begin by mixing together one-half cup of granulated sugar, two-thirds of a cup of Barbadoes molasses and one-half cup of butter. Now dissolve one-half teaspoon of soda in one-half cup of sour milk and add this also to the mixing bowl, with one beaten egg three-quarters of a cup of raisins and three and one-third cups of flour sifted with a pinch of salt, one teaspoon of ground cinnamon, and one-half teaspoon each of ground nutmeg and cloves. Drop on a greased pan by teaspoonfuls one inch apart and bake eight to ten minutes in a moderate oven.

TO LEAVE VACANCIES

MARTINS FERRY, Aug. 4—No appointments are expected to be made to the police force to replace the three men, including Chief Hyland, who were ousted by the city civil service commission, following an investigation, instigated by dry law advocates, of prohibition enforcement here. Only $1,000 is available to pay police salaries for the remainder of the year, it is understood. Formerly, fines assessed as a result of raids conducted by the police officers, were sufficient to pay salaries in the safety department, but these collections have now dropped off.

LEMONS BLEACH THE SKIN WHITE

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also a freckle-sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

Clears Complexion

"Oh! how clear and beautiful your complexion is today, my dear!"

THERE is a certain joy in certain pride—in knowing you are admired, whether it be from father, brother, husband or sweetheart! And back of that joy is the satisfaction of knowing all is well.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps, wondering, hoping—praying for that attractiveness which is not theirs. But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that clear skin—that beauty—that clear skin—is the barometer of one's condition. A healthy skin radiates beauty. Pure, clean blood means a clear skin.

S.S.S. is waiting to help you. It will rid your blood of its impurities and give you that clear complexion. Since 1826 S.S.S. has been ridding people of blood impurities, from pimples, from blackheads, boils, eczema and from rheumatism, too. Because S.S.S. is made from fresh herbs and barks, it may be taken with perfect safety. Try it yourself. You will not only look better, but you will feel better, too.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Today's Talks

THE THINKERS

I have always contended that the greatest process in this life is to think and do all in your power to get others to think.

Thinking people are the healthiest, happiest, most successful and most interesting.

And, thank God, we do not all have to think alike! That would be unfortunate indeed. But if we can all think along lines that tend upward there is not going to be any harm done.

And every human being should be let alone with his thoughts. They are a part of him as distinctly as his privilege to wear any color tie which he chooses.

It is in our province to influence the thought of others but not to demand that they think as we think. That would upset all creative incentive and make mere dummies of us all.

Wendell Phillips used to say that he never felt that he was effective in his public addresses unless he got a goodly number mad. That is to say, he didn't feel that he had been able to get them to think unless they showed some spirit about it.

The thinker is the valuable friend and citizen, no matter what garb he wears or in what kind of a house he lives.

I suppose many a one has wondered what Rodin's "Thinker" was thinking about anyway. Well, it doesn't matter. The fact remains that this great work of art typifies the formative human race.

If the book you read doesn't make you think, it isn't worth your time. And if your companion or friend doesn't also stimulate you to thought he, too, is wasting your time and eating a harvest to which he has no right as a participant.

Remember that the thinkers alone in this world are the worthwhile folks. Cultivate them. They will make a better thinker out of you.

CIVIL AVIATION IS LOSING BUSINESS

LONDON, Aug. 5—Civil aviation, although developed to a high point in Europe, is not yet on a paying basis. The Imperial Airways, running lines to most European capitals from London, operate on a Government subsidy of $5,000,000 a year and still are not in a favorable position. Indeed, they are even now asking the Government for an adjustment of their subsidy which will give them great financial latitude.

Business over the commercial lines is constantly increasing. British machines are now carrying about 2,000 passengers monthly to Continental air ports, and about seventy-five tons of freight monthly, for which high rates are paid.

MICHAEL'S MARRIAGE

By MICHAEL

CHAPTER 114.

In barely five minutes, Helen emerged from the library alone, obviously in distress, and came to Lilah, struggling to make it appear that nothing was wrong.

"It is warm enough in the house, Helen," Lilah put in, with all the tact she could summon. "Go and see to the furnace Michael."

It took him several seconds to comprehend, then he turned and left. What happened? He thought of going into the library to ask Lonnie, but realized that he couldn't do that. After waiting ten hour-length minutes in the rear of the house, he quietly returned to the hall. Lilah and Helen were seated on the lounge, and both were composed. Lonnie was on the other side of the library paying polite interest to their conventional remarks. An electric calm hung over them.

When Michael returned, Lonnie spoke: "Helen, Michael and Lilah are my friends, and yours, too, and can be trusted to keep their mouths shut. They can help us if we will let them. They know all that has been going the rounds of the gossips, and a little that I have told them in confidence, so it will do you no good to preserve that indifferent air of yours." Though he spoke with moving seriousness, his voice was kind.

Helen kept her eyes on the floor.

Lonnie now addressed himself to Michael and Lilah:

"I have just told Helen that she need not worry about my revealing the truth of the matter. I love her, but she must give up this other man absolutely."

The girl's lip quivered. Michael was fascinated by her eyes.

"I won't let you boss me, Alphonzo Capper," she blurted out.

Lilah stirred, uncomfortable. "Michael," she began, "couldn't we—"

"Let's not do any acting, Lilah," Michael interrupted her calmly. He turned to Helen: "Would you like for us to go?"

"Please stay." There was a deep appeal in her eyes. Michael suddenly found himself angry with Lonnie Capper.

"You two are not helping matters," he exclaimed.

Lonnie was more reserved now. "It's all such a hopeless muddle. No matter what we do now, people will continue to twang their vile tongues at Helen's expense. I'm willing to do anything if we can only do that."

"Please don't worry about it, Capper," Helen murmured, tenderly. "I won't care."

"Yes you do. You know that you're living a life of hell. How did your mother happen to let you come out this evening?"

"I don't know. I was surprised because she didn't raise any objections. I suppose she thinks I'm here with Lilah alone."

Lonnie arose impatiently. "We aren't getting anywhere, absolutely not. What are we going to do? Words, words, words."

Michael again became conscious that his head was aching. "Why didn't you two get married?" he exclaimed.

"I don't want to marry him!" Helen's response was emphatic. Lonnie was silent.

"Make her marry you, Lonnie," he persisted.

"Make her?" he laughed. "You talk as if marrying her is my duty."

"It is, in a way."

"Blah! Don't try to tell me what's right and what's wrong. Your own record isn't so clean."

Michael colored and glanced at Lilah in confusion.

"What does he mean, Michael?" she asked him swiftly.
